

New Jersey, where I live, is the most densely populated state in the Nation. We believe in our right to peace and quiet when we are in our own homes. New Jersey's Do-Not-Call regulations are exactly what we deserve to maintain this peace. I don't believe the Federal government should be able to change the NJ law. States Rights are an important part of our governmental system. It will be clear to us that you have been bought by private industry if you stop our Do-Not-Call regulations from continuing. My friends, family and I can think of no other reason you would do away with something working and necessary to the citizens of NJ.
